REVISED PERMIT RENEWAL APPLICATION RECEIVED

LAWRENCE LIVERMORE NATIONAL LABORATORY, MAIN SITE

7000 East Avenue Livermore, California 94550

WHAT IS BEING PROPOSED? Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL) submitted a timely permit renewal application in April 2009 for the LLNL Main Site in Livermore. The Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) reviewed the application, issued a draft permit for public review and comment from April 30 to August 3, 2015, and held a public hearing on June 3, 2015. DTSC issued responses to public comments and a permit decision on March 10, 2016. The 2016 permit decision was appealed and stayed. On July 18, 2018, DTSC's Permit Appeal Officer issued a Final Appeals Decision and Order (Order) on the petition for review of the 2016 permit decision. The Order granted two appeal comments, partially granted the third appeal comment, and remanded the permit application and permit to DTSC's Permitting Division to correct the deficiencies. The 2016 permit decision continues to be stayed pending a new permit decision that includes the revisions listed in the Order.

On June 20, 2019, DTSC received a revised permit renewal application for the LLNL Main Site. As required by the Order, the revised application includes changes to the permit application associated with the 2016 stayed permit. DTSC has determined that the revised permit application is administratively complete. DTSC is currently reviewing the revised portions of the application. When the review is complete, DTSC will issue a draft permit decision incorporating the revisions listed in the Order. DTSC will provide the public an opportunity to review and comment on the revisions to the 2016 stayed permit. You will be notified of this opportunity in a future mailing.
